

F OREWORD

"School" will always bring memories to both mind and heart. These memories were formed in four years at Cradock High.

In our minds will be the facts that college teachers and future employers will want; in our hearts are the feelings, the recollections, and the love which we associate with our Cradock High.

Nowhere can we go that will let us forget the Freshman initiation, when we thrilled with pride as a mighty Senior said, "you! get on your knees!" That pride came to us the moment we walked into the halls our Freshman year and it has never left us.

We want to express this pride and the love we all feel for our Alma Mater in a tribute to and collection of "Cradock Memories", The 1959 Admiral.

Our class in September, 1955, during Freshman Initiation Week.

September, 1958, at the beginning of our Senior year.

UNFORGETTABLE MOMENTS

Some Seniors take time out for a friendly chat.

Recreation is a very important part of a student's life.

Studying takes up a major part of every Cradock student's time.

Colorful Moments

Seniors Fred Kennedy, Kenneth Storms, Robert Gregory, and Lynn Rush, watch Carolyn Briggs as she reaches for her "bull's eye" arrow.

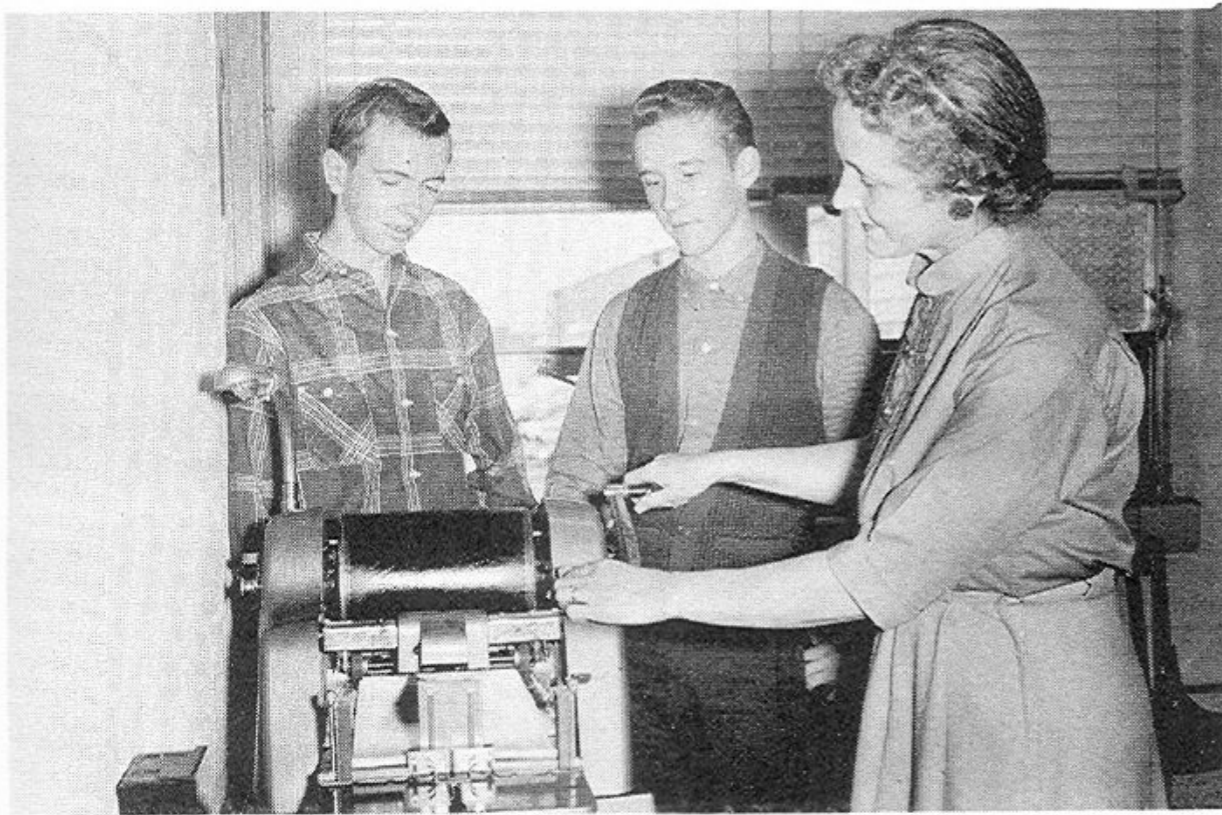

Wayne Hathaway tries to draw a picture of Barbara Kyle as Sandra Hicks and Ruth Hemp look on.

We caught these students in a studious mood. It seems they are having a big test in the afternoon.

Remembrances Of Our Faculty

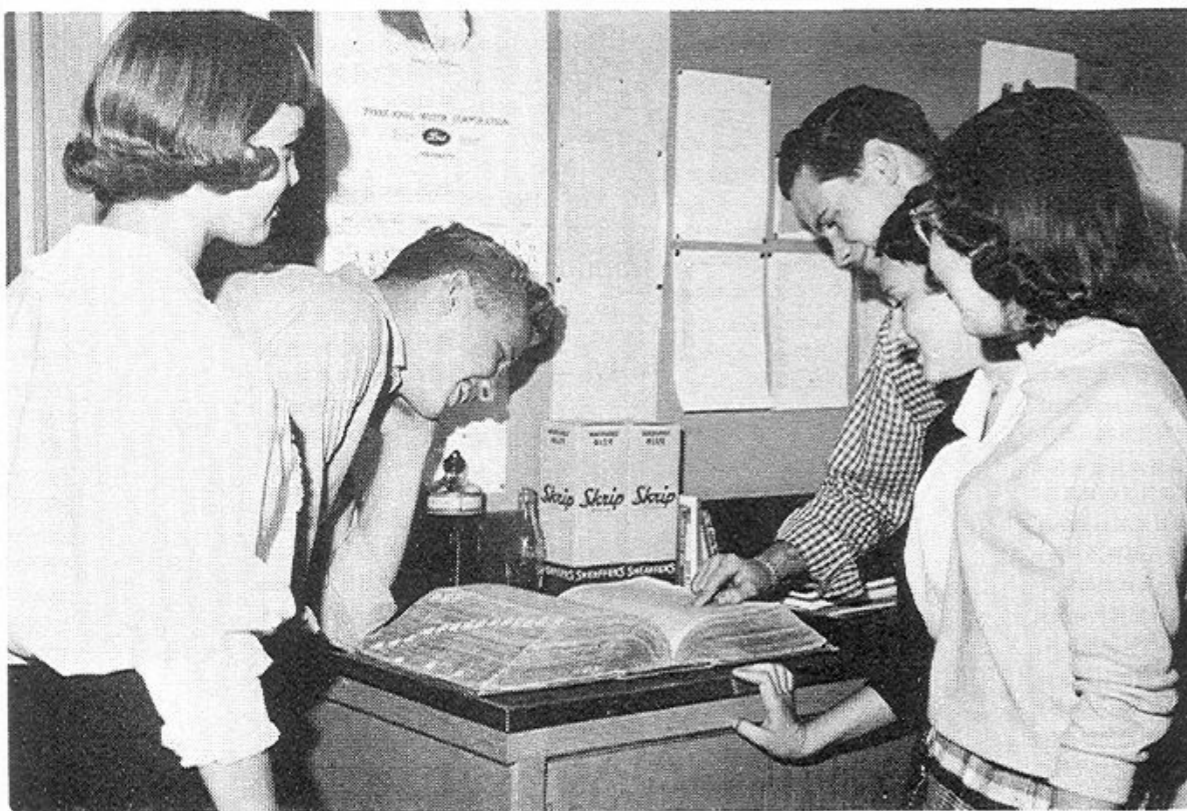

Mrs. Nance shows the boys how to operate the machine.

Mrs. LeCompte and staff relax after the lunch rush.

These Juniors are looking up a word in the dictionary.

Mrs. Edwards working on the over due book slips of the homerooms.

Miss Newton assists a student with her assignment.
